Very large and overgrown oak tree in the rear garden of known address above. This is causing many issues for tenant, landlord's property and neighbours surrounding. There is excess shading through many gardens and properties especially No. 4 and No. 2; the branches are encroaching on No. 2 property and also No. 4's conservatory. Concerns this may cause damage with bad weather this winter. There are low hanging branches and there are concerned they will break and fall. The tree is very large and with advice from contractor who attended site are for a 3 metre crown reduction and removal of limbs where needed. Can be seen from grove entrance position is rear left-hand side of garden.

Fell yew tree \(T1\). Tree is dying back from the tips and the ends of the branches are now dead with no give or flex. The trees canopy is sparse and needles are falling off. The die back looks to be historic and has been like this for a few years. The tree is progressively getting worse. The tree is a shared tree with a boundary fence nailed to both sides. It has also been TEMPO assessed and the score comes out at under the merit for protection. The tree is in the back garden and has very limited public visual amenity value. As the tree is under this score and declining in health, the clients are putting in a six weeks notification of their intention to remove the tree.
